SOUTHERN WEED SCIENCE SOCIETY CODE OF ETHICS

The Southern Weed Science Society (SWSS) Code of Ethics defines professional conduct binding on all members of the SWSS. Members should recognize that this code of ethics and conduct signifies a voluntary assumption of the obligation of self-discipline and members should strive to uphold and maintain the honor and dignity of the SWSS.

The following rules and standards of conduct have been developed for the safe and efficient operation of the SWSS and for the benefit and protection of the rights and safety of all. SWSS members are expected to observe the highest standards of professional conduct at all times, while at work or engaged in Society business.

- 1. Obey all laws, rules and regulations governing our business. The SWSS is subject to applicable federal laws in the state or country of the meeting or event. It is the policy of the SWSS that all laws, rules and regulations are complied with fully and completely. If it is unclear whether an action or activity is a legal or ethical violation, contact the SWSS President and/or Business Manager immediately for advice. Any incident or situation that violates the law or this policy should be immediately reported to the President and/or Business Manager.
- 2. Be honest, truthful, fair and trustworthy in all SWSS activities and relationships. The SWSS expects each member to treat members with respect and honesty. This includes providing information that is accurate, complete, objective, timely, relevant and understandable.
- 3. Respect and protect SWSS assets. Assets are anything of value owned by the SWSS. All SWSS members are expected to be the custodian of those assets. Members are responsible to maintain Society assets in good condition and to protect them from loss. This includes, but is not limited to, real assets and equipment as well as “soft assets” such as intellectual property, member lists, and other confidential information owned by the SWSS. SWSS assets of any kind should not be used for personal benefit.
- 4. Avoid all conflicts of interest between Society business and personal affairs. All SWSS members are expected to act with total objectivity with regard to SWSS business. Accordingly, it is improper for a SWSS member to be in a position where their personal interests conflict, or appears to conflict, with SWSS interests. SWSS members should not use their position with the SWSS to influence SWSS members or others for their personal benefit. If a member believes that a conflict of interest has developed or may develop, it should be promptly reported to the SWSS President or Business Manager.
- 5. Promote a culture of respect for all SWSS members. The SWSS supports and adheres to laws and regulations dealing with fair member practices. Membership discrimination in our Society based on sex, race, age, religion, national origin, or sexual preference will not be tolerated. Sexual harassment will not be tolerated. Sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature that explicitly or implicitly affects an individual’s membership in the society, unreasonably interferes with an individual’s activities within the society, or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive society environment. This also includes inappropriate use of nudity and/or sexual images in public spaces (including within visual presentations, Twitter, and other online media); deliberate intimidation, stalking, or unwelcome following; harassing photography or recording; and sustained disruption of talks or other events.

6. Use your best efforts to maintain a safe environment and protect the Society. The SWSS believes in and supports the laws designated to keep our Society safe and designed to protect the environment. If you believe that an unsafe condition exists in our Society, bring it immediately to the attention of the President, a member of the Board, or Business Manager. If an accident takes place, report it pursuant to policy and immediately take action to address the problem. Any incident or situation that violates the law or this policy should be immediately reported to the President and/or Business Manager.

7. Promote an ethical culture for all SWSS members. The SWSS always expects all of its members to conduct themselves ethically and to encourage and support that behavior in their fellow members. Members exercise integrity in scientific research activities and in the reporting of the results.

8. Relation of professionals to the public. Members shall not knowingly permit the publication of reports or other documents for any unsound or illegitimate undertaking.

9. Respect fellow SWSS members. Members shall freely give credit for work done by others to whom the credit is due and shall refrain from plagiarism in oral and written communication, and not knowingly accept credit rightfully due another person.

10. Reporting alleged violations. Violation of the SWSS Code of Ethics and Conduct may subject a member to disciplinary action up to and including membership revocation. At the annual conference, when the SWSS Board of Directors become aware of a complaint, they will seek out the alleged victim(s) and offender(s) separately and gather facts. Immediate response at the conference may range from warning a harasser to cease his or her behavior immediately, to ending a speaker's talk early if the speaker uses inappropriate language or images, to requiring a harasser to leave the conference immediately with no refund, to banning a harasser from future events "either indefinitely or for a certain time period." Law enforcement may be engaged if circumstances require.

A separate score sheet will be used by each judge for each student. Judging is based on the following: manner in which information is presented and research techniques and interpretation. A numerical scale is provided for judges to use as a guide to evaluate the papers. Please use these to assist the students in evaluating their strengths and weaknesses in their research and presentation of said research. After judging all contestants, rank each paper from high to low. Use a scale from 1 to the # of contestants in that division with 1 representing the top individual in that division. The winners of the contest will be determined by adding together the rankings of the judges. The contestant with the smallest total rank will be the winner. In an effort to prevent ties, individual judges should not allow any ties to occur within the division they judge, however, if after compilation of scores from all judges a tie occurs, then both contestants will receive the first place award for that division of the contest and there will be no second place winner. Please try to provide some overall comments at the bottom of the page along with specific comments in the area provided within each section of the score sheet. Critical comments will greatly aid the students in enhancing their communication skills by pointing out specific areas and points they should improve upon; however, comments of a complimentary nature for a job well done are also important and appropriate.

Materials and Methods should be brief but descriptive enough that the listener can understand and evaluate the overall approach used to obtain the objective(s).

6. Discussion of Results and Conclusions is an essential part of any research paper. It is important that the Results and Conclusions are supported by the data and interpretation is logical. Findings should be related to other work if applicable. Importance of results should be addressed and related to future research needs that could potentially allow a better understanding of the subject. G. SOUTHERN WEED SCIENCE SOCIETY STUDENT POSTER CONTEST

INSTRUCTIONS FOR JUDGES

General

Presentation of a scientific poster is intended to allow the poster to stand alone and provide the audience the best understanding of the authors work and results. Given that only a portion of the authors are be present at the time of judging (first full day of meeting) the judges can interact with the student(s) but must limit conversation as much as possible and are not allowed to take that interaction into account when scoring. Given the program arrangement for certain authors to be required to stand by their posters, and others not, it is not appropriate to give bias toward the authors present at time of judging.

Poster presentations will be judged in two major categories: Presentation Skills (Methods and Mechanics) and Content (Relevance and Merit). A sample score sheet is attached. A separate score sheet will be used by each judge for each student. A numerical scale is provided for judges to use as a guide to evaluate the posters. Please use these to assist the students in evaluating their strengths and weaknesses in their research and presentation of said research. After judging all contestants, rank each poster from high to low. Use a scale from 1 to the # of contestants in that division with 1 representing the top individual in that division.

The winners of the contest will be determined by adding together the rankings of the judges and the contestant with the smallest total rank will be the winner. 2. Creativity and inventiveness refer to the effective use of new or unusual methodology to effectively illustrate ideas or results. The overall appearance of the poster, i.e. neatness and general appeal to the observer, should also be considered.
3. Poster development refers to the physical development of the poster. This includes the organization and pattern of the poster and how effective the text, figures, and pictures are to convey the information into an easily understandable format. Proper grammar, sentence structure, spelling, and use of terminology should be considered.

4. A clear justification for research and statement of objectives should include background on the subject and pertinent references if applicable. Contestants should justify reasons for conducting the research and then state objectives.
